Dear All,

I am sure that you too were watching the latest information shared by the Prime Minister last night.

Although, at this stage, I know no more than you about the detail of the plans for the phased reopening of schools, I want to reassure you that we have been and continue to work on a number of scenarios to enable us to move forward.

My prime concern is the safety of staff and pupils. When we do have more information and I am able to finalise the plans I will communicate a very clear plan about what we can offer and how we will keep our community safe within the guidelines set out for us.

One thing I do know is that our return will not be normal. The way that children, parents and staff operate and move around the school and grounds will be very different for a considerable time to come.

Tomorrow I will be sending a survey to collect information that will help us in our decision making and planning. We will need the responses back by Friday this week.

I will be in touch again as soon as I have more to share,

Kind regards,

Sarah Evans
